Frustration boils over at fatality inquiry

Family members vexed by a justice system they feel let four Alberta RCMP officers down took their frustration over the deaths of their loved ones out on a Crown prosecutor Thursday.

"When does common sense start kicking in as opposed to the exact, explicit letter of the law?" Grace Johnston asked prosecutor Gordon Wong at the fatalitv inquiry into the shootings near Mayerthorpe almost six years ago.

Wong, a Calgary-based prosecutor and former chief Crown prosecutor, was testifying about a report he wrote following the March 2005 killing of constables Brock Myrol, Peter Schiemann, Anthony Gordon and Leo Johnston.

Wong's report showed that gunman James Roszko, 46, had long been involved with the justice system but there were very few convictions. @ METRO

A widow's grief has turned to frustration and anger as she and the Edmonton Somali community call for the lead investigator to be removed from her husband's murder case.

In a letter of complaint sent to the Edmonton Police Service and the Human Rights Commission, 22-year-old Farhiya Warsame, together with the Alberta Somali Community Centre and Canadian Somali Congress, ask that EPS Det. City eyeing retirement of older taxis

▶ Report: Changes will cut taxi emissions by 20%▶ Emissions increased from 2009 to 2010

Members of Edmonton's taxi industry are speaking out against a plan to shelve older vehicles.

The city's Vehicle for Hire Commission is hoping to retire older taxis to reduce emission rates, according to a report to be discussed by council's community services committee on Monday.

Come May, the commission wants to stop renewing licences of taxi models more than eight years old.

In 2012, it wants vehicles entering the taxi service to be no more than two years old. And by the time 2013 rolls around, the commission wants to stop renewing licences for taxis more than six years old.

Balraj Manhas, president of the United Cabbies Association of Edmonton, said the industry already has standards on vehicle age.

"If they're more than five years old, they have to go through an inspection every six months," he said. "That's one reason (we're opposed) — they're main-

The report says the increase in emissions last year is due to a decrease in the use of hybrid vehicles as well as a reduction in the pace older vehicles are being replaced.

As of September 2010, 18 per cent of the city's taxis were five years old.

Tree recycling on the wane

• Total weight of recycled trees in 2010 almost 100 tonnes less than in 1993

You won't see as many tired and needle-bare fir and pine Christmas trees awaiting pickup along your

The city collected 154 tonnes of natural trees in 2010. down from 179 tonnes in 2009 and a record high of 249 tonnes in 1993.

Connie Boyce of the Schools look to replace casino funds

Next steps are already underway for the Edmonton Catholic School Board after voting to remove casino revenue from their school system.

The board will start foundation training next week, which is one route board chair Debbie Engel hopes will lead to longterm ideas for funding.

"I don't know of an alternative where you could make $80,000 in a twoday period. I can't think of a single one," she said. foundation "Through training, we can find out setting up a foundation that there may be a way."

At their board meeting last Tuesday, trustees voted unanimously that no 86 of the 87 Catholic schools in the city do a casino every 18 months, generating $6 million for the district.

school should raise funds through casinos. The board believes it's the province's responsibility to provide adequate and sustainable funding for public education.

Some schools use the funds for hot lunches, while others pay for field trips, said Engel, adding that some schools are also not in a close proximity to a casino, making it difficult for parent volunteers.

But the schools will continue to use casinos as a means of funding until an alternative is found.

The school board has been dealing with the issue since the fall, when the archdiocese said no gambling money should go into Catholic schools.

'There were orgies': Tawdry wiretaps leaked

◆ Italy's Silvio Berlusconi denies wrongdoing

Gossip-loving Italians are devouring a feast of sexy leaked wiretaps about their prime minister, Silvio Berlusconi.

In some purported conversations, Berlusconi's house is described as a brothel with topless girls dancing around.

The 74-year-old prime minister is described as having gained weight and become ugly by one guest.

The wiretaps were ordered by prosecutors as part of their prostitution probe targeting Berlusconi and his alleged encounters with a Moroccan teenager known as Ruby.

In one purported wiretap, Ruby tells a woman she has been frequenting

Berlusconi's house since the age of 16, but that Berlusconi "thought I was 24 years old."

A man on another wiretap says: "There were orgies ... all girls ... at the end were topless, only in their panties," A Berlusconi crony is heard telling a young woman to dress up as a sexy nurse and pretend to examine the prime minister as a joke.

Berlusconi has denied wrongdoing.

A look at 5 years under Harper

Tories formed minority government in 2006 Have changed country's priorities, weathered political tumult

He won office the first time under the banner of "standing up for Canada." Now he travels the country promising to be "here for Canada." But after five years in charge, what has Prime Minister Stephen Harper meant for Canada?

On a policy level, the consensus seems to be not much.

"When they came to power, they probably thought they would change it more than they've been able to," said Tom Flanagan, who is Harper's former chief of staff.

The realities of minority governments, the dual prorogations of Parliament that killed scores of government bills and the need to put economic management above all else saw little national change over the last five years.

What debate has existed has been over Canada's role in the world, not at home, suggested Antonia Maioni, director of the McGill Institute for the Study of Canada, at McGill University in Montreal.

Canada's environmental record, the war in Afghanistan and even the fight for a seat on the United Nations Security Council have marked the last five years, she said.

"What we've not had is a real conversation on the future of Canada as a federation and the future of Canada in terms of a more long-term strategy."

In the great game of politics, it's still unclear what Harper would like the chessboard to look like in five years.

"Is the end game getting a majority? I don't know because he is doing pretty well with a minority. Is the end game transforming Canada on some level? Some of the things Harper has done and is doing point to that in incremental fashion," said Maioni.

"He's playing his cards very close to his chest about what his vision is in this.' THE CANADIAN PRESS

Musicians create song in just eight hours

Challenge intended to expose 'unoriginal' hit music Damie Lee Curtis, Avatar, Regis referenced on track

All they started with were a few "corny rhymes" about characters from the hit TV show Friends.

Eight hours later, Calgary musician Dan Bennett and friend Dave Wallace of Victoria had created a song called Lights, Camera, Action, which they would willingly put up against any track on the top-40 charts.

Bennett, also known as hip-hop artist Transit, said it can be frustrating to see musicians creating "easy" pop music succeed over those trying to be innova-

"We wanted to see how easy it is to push a mainstream, top-40 song like that out," he said.

Within an hour of starting the project in a Victoria basement, the duo had developed the up-tempo beat on a computer and worked out most of the lyrics

Bennett said the project was so simplistic he and Wallace were even able to duck out for two hours to a local burger joint.

Wallace said the song is meant to challenge people to question what they're listening to.

"It can be this easy to create, so be really conscious about (what you're putting) into your ears and what you think about it," he said.

The song can be downloaded at innovateimageworks. com and their video viewed at metronews.ca/edmonton.

Budget plan doesn't add up: Watchdog

Parliamentary budget officer says Harper's plan to reduce spending can't be done without massive cuts

The federal government's plan to cut $6.8 billion in spending over five years isn't achievable without major service and program cuts, Parliamentary Budget Officer Kevin Page says.

"Without significant reductions ... and without significant program service-related reductions I don't see how they achieve this kind of restraint," Page said on Thursday after releasing a report on whether an operating budget freeze will meet the government's "We are saying to parliamentarians there are a lot of risks that the government won't achieve fiscally and they need to be clear that there may be service-level risks."

The parents, Joy White and Carl Tyson, said a woman who looked like a nurse had comforted them at the hospital. She disappeared afterward and apparently never worked there, the family said.

The daughter, living under the name Nejdra Nance, had long suspected she was at least adopted because the woman who raised her could never provide her with a birth certificate. She didn't look like anyone she lived with, police and her family said.

Liberals defend Sikhs' right to wear daggers

• Conservatives now only party that have yet to take a position on whether kirpans can be worn in legislatures

The Liberal party has defended the right of devout Sikhs to wear religious ceremonial daggers in legislatures, chiding a Bloc proposal to ban their presence in Parliament.

The announcement by Liberal Leader Michael Ignatieff on Thursday, which echoes the position of the NDP, makes it clear that any attempt to ban the kirpan would face resistance in Parliament.

That puts Ignatieff at odds with the Quebec legislature, which earlier this week barred entry to a group of Sikhs who were wearing their kirpans.

It now appears clear that the Bloc Quebecois would never receive the all-party consensus it needs to have the Commons' board of internal economy declare the kirpan a security threat.

"The kirpan is not a weapon," Ignatieff told reporters in Montreal. "It's a religious symbol and we have to respect it."

Avalanche risk high: Experts

As another powerful winter storm dumps snow across much of B.C.'s central and eastern regions, avalanche experts are warning people to stay out of backcountry areas of the province.

The new snow is falling on mountains already heavily laden with heavy snow that fell during the past week. More than a metre fell over the course of a 48-hour period in eastern B.C.

The Canadian Avalanche Centre says the avalanche risk is high from the alpine right into the treeline in coastal areas, and the risks are nearly the same in interior regions.

Meanwhile, police have identified 46-yearold Manfred Rockel of Calgary as the man killed last Sunday in an avalanche near Nelson, B.C.

Woman discharged in census case

A Saskatchewan woman who was found guilty of refusing to fill out the long-form census has been given an absolute discharge, but that may not be the end of her fight.

Sandra Finley says she's happy with the court's decision Thursday not to fine her or send her to jail. But she isn't pleased with the verdict handed down last week in Saskatoon provincial court by Judge Sheila Whelan.

"Am I going to jump up and down because I got an absolute discharge? Well, no, it's part of the unfolding process and her guilty verdict still stands," said Finley. "So we are going to review, once again, the grounds for appeal and my expectation is that it's most likely that we will proceed with appeal of the verdict in spite of the absolute discharge in sentencing."

Finley balked at filling out the 2006 long-form census because Statistics Canada had purchased the software from U.S. defence manufacturer Lockheed Martin in 2003.

The agency said only federal employees would have access to the data collected, but that did not assuage Finley.

3-D industry pushes on as some get sick

25 per cent of Americans experience headaches, blurred vision when viewing 3-D: American Optometric Association

From Hollywood studios to Japanese TV makers, powerful business interests are betting 3-D will be the fu-ture of entertainment, despite a major drawback: It makes millions of people uncomfortable or sick.

Optometrists say as many as one in four viewers have problems watching 3-D movies and TV, either because 3-D causes tiresome eyestrain or because the viewer has problems perceiving depth in real life. In the worst cases, 3-D makes people queasy, leaves them dizzy or gives them headaches.

Researchers have begun developing more lifelike 3-D displays that might ad-which is aware of the problem yet charging ahead with plans to create more movies and TV shows in 3-D. Jeff Katzenberg, CEO of Dreamworks Animation SKG Inc., calls 3-D "the greatest innovation that's happened for the movie theatres and for moviegoers since colour."

Theatre owners includ-ing AMC Entertainment Inc. and TV makers such as Panasonic Corp. are spending more than a billion dollars to upgrade theatres and TVs for 3-D.

A handful of satellite and cable channels are already carrying 3-D programming.

5 MINUTES WITH: KEVIN LOBO

In his new book, Brighter Red, the India-born author challenges Canadians to move beyond our social issues in order to reach our full potential.

You write that being born in Canada is like winning the lottery in life. What do you mean by that?

For immigrants like me, especially coming from Third World or developing nations, Canada's like a golden mean that attracts us and the longing with which we come to this country is like a culmination of a long struggle. So for those who are born here it's like a golden birthright.

And yet you outline a number of social issues that you've identified as problematic. Is there one you felt to be most pressing? The one that is closest to Ine one that is closest to my heart, coming from India, is child poverty. It's something that you see rampant on street corners everywhere there. To come to Canada, to a rich nation, and then to see the same issues is surprising. In a rich nation like ours, children go to sleep hungry, children go without meals, children are really deprived of the simple pleasures of life.

You encourage your readers to help you think out a "new Canadian conscience." What

Worth mentioning

The warmest year on record is a three-way tie: 2010, 2005 and 1998.

So says the UN weather agency, providing further evidence Thursday that the planet is slowly, but surely, heating up.

Average temperatures globally last year were 0.53 C higher than the 1961-90 mean that is used for comparison purposes, according to the World Meteorological Organization

That's a bit lower than what the U.S. National Climatic Data Center announced earlier this month, but the World Meteorological Organization also uses figures based on data collected by Britain's Meteorological Office and NASA.

Tropical temperatures

"The 2010 data confirm the Earth's significant long-term warming trend," said Michel Jarraud, WMO's top official. He added that the 10 warmest years after records began in 1854 have all occurred since 1998. The average worldwide temperature for the 20th century was 13.9 C. But rising global temperatures over the last century are causing climate experts to worry. Most atmospheric scientists attribute the change to carbon dioxide and gases released into the air by gasoline-burning engines and other industrial processes. The gases tend to trap heat in the atmosphere like a greenhouse.

Love kills laughs

Richard Crouse and Mark Breslin debate the merits of No Strings Attached
 Supporting cast much more interesting than two leads in this rom-com

Richard Crouse: I don't know about you Mark, but I don't think Natalie Portman has to worry about No Strings Attached "Norbiting" her chance of an Oscar nomination. It has charm here and there, but is so bland I don't even think Academy Award voters will even remember she was in the movie by Monday when their ballots are due. Thoughts?

Mark Breslin: I think the movie proves she has a gift for light come dy – very, very light comedy. I agree the movie is bland, but the good news is that its weightlessness is an antidote to the legion of overstated rom-coms. For the first half of the picture, I found myself

Plot synopsis

No Strings Attached is the new R-rated dating comedy from director Ivan "Ghost Busters" Reitman. Ashton Kutcher and Natalie Portman play 20-some-applauding its gentle, loping rhythms. Then I fought to stay awake.

RC: I hear you. The sex-iseasy, love-is-hard premise works well enough when she and Kutcher are arranging trysts by text and keeping it informal but when the l-word — that's love — rears its head the movie becomes predictable and dull. Perhaps it's because the leads aren't nearly as interesting as the supporting cast.

porting cast! Kevin Kline, Lake Bell, Olivia Thirlby and many more inject the movie with the verve it needs. But now for the big question, Richard — Ashton Kutcher. Well?

RC: He looks good in a suit and can deliver a line but I really thought his role could have been played by any number of actors — Paul Rudd and Josh Duhamel maybe — and it wouldn't have made any difference to the finished product. Back to the supporting cast though. You're in the comedy biz. Can't you get Lake Bell a better gig than this. She's fantastic.

MB: Let me call the folks over at Little Mosque and see what they can do ... As for Kutcher, I prefer him in sleazy cynical roles. There's nothing more boring than a reformed cad. How much do we blame director Ivan Reitman for all of this? Should he start taking lessons from his son?

RC: Not yet. He is, after all, the guy who directed Ghost Busters, so as far as I'm concerned he's alright by me. I'm willing to write No Strings Attached off as a noble but so-so attempt at a modern romcom. My fingers are still crossed for Ghostbusters 3

Mechanic star likes getting physical

No stranger to physically demanding roles, action star Jason Statham's previous career as a member of the British diving team has come in surprisingly handy.

"It was very good for me to do what I'm doing now, because a lot of the training is all pointed in a direction where it allows you to gain aerial awareness," he explains. "So if you're doing a lot of stunts, you have a very great sense of distance and timing. It's definitely paid off."

The diving background helped for his latest film, The Mechanic, which called for Statham and co-star Ben Foster to careen down a 30-storey office building, supported by a single rope. The star of the Crank and Transporter movie series insists it was a blast, though maybe not as much for his co-star.

"He was pooping himself," he says of Foster. "Just being strung up with Ben to see how scared he was when we was doing the down the side ... It makes me sound a little bit sadistic. It's great."

But aside from taking glee in a co-star's trepidation, Statham admits stuntheavy roles are just that much more satisfying for him him.

"When you do something good, there's a great excitement to it," he says.
"It's always more rewarding doing something in terms of the action.

"You do a good dramatic scene, there's no one clapping for that. If you do a good stunt and it works out well, there's a great euphoria on set," he said. "That just doesn't happen in dramatic scenes. You just don't get that immediate reward"

A remake of the 1972 Charles Bronson film of the same name, The Mechanic asks Statham to step into some storied shoes, but he's not worried.

"There's always the comparisons that are going to be made, and it's not the first remake that I've done,"

Hopkins knows what scares you

Oscar winner takes on demons in The Rite Says religious certainty can be just as scary as a horror film

At 73 years old, Sir Anthony Hopkins is trying to live by a new life philosophy: expect nothing.

"Expectation leads to re-

"Expectation leads to resentment and depression, so I have no expectations," he says. "To be realistic is a great freedom. I have no illusions about my position in this world as an actor or anything like that. No illusions at all. I'm very realistic. Reality is a very liberating thing."

But this recently discovered enlightenment doesn't mean Hopkins isn't doing anything anymore. The notoriously busy actor has several projects lined up, as well as a number of completed films out this year, including his latest, The Rite

In the religious thriller, Hopkins stars as a veteran exorcist fighting on the front lines for the Vatican. But it wasn't a project he immediately jumped at.

"I thought I didn't want to play another spooky guy, you know? I wasn't sure," he says. "I know what scares people, I know what's scary on film, because that's what I do. I guess I've got a knack for it, but it doesn't mean I'm a scary person. My wife's not scared of me. I'm scared of her."

ANTHONY HOPKINS

Then, of course, there was the subject matter. Let's just say religious certainty doesn't exactly jibe with Hopkins' newfound philosophy.

"I don't know what my beliefs are, really, about any of it," he says. "Anyone who says they know — 'I believe in the truth.' Oh, the truth? A lot of trouble that got us into over the last thousands of years. Hitler knew the truth. So did Stalin, so did Mao Zedong, so did Torquemada in the Spanish Inquisition. They all knew the truth, and that caused such horror. Certainty is the enemy. Human beings? We know nothing."

But despite any qualms

But despite any qualms Hopkins has with Catholicism, he's more than happy to play a character who's more than a little scary — and the man who is still best known for playing Hannibal Lecter knows a thing or two about being scary.

"You have fun with it. I know what scares people, I know what's scary on film, because that's what I do," he says. "I guess I've got a knack for it, but it doesn't mean I'm a scary person. My wife's not scared of me. I'm scared of bor."

Part of Hopkins' fresh sense of calm has come from not taking Hollywood too seriously, he insists.

"What is so liberating about this whole business is when you see the big movies are going to come out, and then you see them up in Malibu in a little triplex theatre a week later on a scratched negative and you think, That's it?" he says. "It's a great liberation thinking that none of it is important. That's a great feeling — nothing matters anymore."

My sister is getting mar-ried four months before me and keeps stealing all of my ideas! What should I do?

If it was only a couple of Atiny details then I would advise you to be flattered if its more then I would stop discussing your wedding with her and just say that you want to keep the details a surprise for the big day. You could also offer your help while steering her away from your ideas and point her towards new ones.

If you have questions about your wedding day, send them to Gay at askgay@bridalfantasy.com,

Rogen gets a surprise from Lucas

Seth Rogen had a rather bizarre meeting with Stephen Spielberg and George Lucas recently, during which the Star Wars mastermind was obsessed with the end of the world.

"George Lucas sits down and seriously proceeds to talk for around 25 minutes about how he thinks the world is going to end in the year 2012, like, for re-al. He thinks it," Rogen said.

'Lucas is going on about the tectonic plates, and all the time Spielberg is, like, rolling his eyes, like, 'My nerdy friend won't

Trouble brews

Mel Gibson's legal troubles over ex-girlfriend Oksana Grigorieva aren't going away, Blair is aware that the District Attorney is inclined to file charges against Mel." source prosecutors are now reportedly looking to charge Gibson for allegedly assaulting Grigorieva during an argument last year.

Gibson's attorney, Blair Berk, is said to be preparing for the worst.

"Blair is aware that the District Attorney is inclined to file charges against Mel," a source says.

If convicted of either a misdemeanor or felony, Gibson could face time behind bars. OMETRO

KEN MAKES ANOTHER Lay for Barbie!

Ever since Barbie and Ken split seven years ago, rumours have been swirling about whether or not Ken has continued to carry a torch for his ex!

Well, if his antics at Whistler Blackcomb ski resort are any indication, he wants her back!

Ken showed his true colours as he aced the formidable 7th Heaven run. With a posse of fans cheering him on, Ken came flying down the mountain with an enormous red banner, attached to his ski poles, trailing in the air behind him. In big bold letters it read: "Barbie, you're the only doll for me.

Now, if that ain't love.

SHOULD BARBIE TAKE KEN BACK? Have your say at barbieandken.com

Denise wants vou to know she's a victim

PEOPLE While Charlie Sheen continues to rack up the tabloid covers for his recent exploits in Las Vegas, ex-wife Denise Richards isn't enjoying having to deal with the fallout.

"What becomes difficult is things become so public," she tells Access Hollywood. "I try my best to keep that quiet from our daughters..

Know when to fold 'em, says Simon Cowell

PEOPLE Simon Cowell reportedly isn't a big believer in traditional education.

"All my life I had to teach myself. I never really had a proper education. I wasn't born with any skill. I didn't learn anything from school," he says, according to Hollyscoop.

Instead, he learned his biggest lessons by finding his own teachers. "I asked a very successful guy, 'What's the best advice you can give me?' and he said, Simon, always know when to leave the fair. And I think that's good advice. Something inside you just says, 'You know what, it's

Elevate your everyday veggies to scrumptious

• The traditional Maritimes Hodgepodge dish boasts an array of vegetables in a light sauce

This traditional dish from the Maritimes, called Hodgepodge, features a colourful array of vegetables in a light sauce that elevates the everyday to something scrumptious.

Most Canadians don't get enough fibre, which can be found in whole grains, beans, nuts, seeds, vegetables and fruit.

This dish will help your family up its daily quota, in the most delicious way.

You can also add a dark rye or whole-wheat roll, and for dessert, go for frozen yogurt topped with frozen raspberries.

This is a healthful and easy supper that the whole family will love.

Preparation:

In a large saucepan, combine potatoes and carrots; add cold water to cover by 5 cm (2 inches) and 2 ml (1/2 tsp) of the salt. Cover and bring to a boil over high heat.

- Uncover, reduce heat and boil gently for 10 minutes or until potatoes are almost tender. Add broccoli, sugar snap peas and green peas; boil for 3 minutes or until tendercrisp. Drain; set aside.
- Return pan to medium heat; melt butter. Sauté onion, tarragon, remaining salt and pepper for about 5 minutes or until softened. Stir in flour; saute for 30 seconds. Gradually whisk in heated milk and mustard. Bring to a boil, whisking constantly; reduce heat to medium and simmer, whisking, for about 2 minutes or until thickned.
- Remove from heat; stir in vegetables and toss to coat. Season to taste with salt and pepper.
- Transfer to a warmed serving bowl and sprinkle with fresh herbs, if you are using them. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ingredients:

You can use different vegetables: Start with potatoes and add 1.125 l (4 1/2 cups) other vegetables, adding hard vegetables with the potatoes and more tender ones for the cooking time they require.

- 12 baby new potatoes, cut in half
- 250 ml (1 cup) thickly sliced carrots or baby-cut carrots
- 5 ml (1 tsp) salt, divided
- 500 ml (2 cups) broccoli florets

- 250 ml (1 cup) sugar snap peas, snow peas or green beans, trimmed
- 125 ml (1/2 cup) frozen green peas
- 30 ml (2 tbsp) butter
- 1 small onion, finely chopped
 2 ml (1/2 tsp) dried
- tarragon, savoury or thyme
- 1 ml (1/4 tsp) pepper
- 30 ml (2 tbsp) all-purpose flour
- 375 ml (1 1/2 cups) milk, heated
 10 ml (2 tsp) Dijon or dry
- mustard
 30 ml (2 tbsp) chopped
 fresh basil or dill (optional)

Check-out tips

Registered Dietitian Maria Thomas offers these grocery shopping tips to help you avoid temptation at the check-out line.

- Before you shop, take an inventory of everything you have in your

- Make a list of what you need and stick to it.
- Eat before you go — otherwise impulse items will end up in your cart. • NEWS CANADA

Stars prove too bright for Oilers

Edmonton has just two wins in its last 15 games Dallas earns club-record eighth straight road win

Jamie Benn and Adam Burish each had a goal and an assist as the Dallas Stars defeated the Edmonton Oilers 4-2 on Thursday night.

Mike Ribeiro and James Neal also scored for the Stars (29-13-5), who improved to 7-0-1 in January. Ryan Jones and Jeff Petry replied for the Oilers (14-

Dallas opened the scoring 12 minutes into the first period as Burish chipped the puck off the boards to send Benn on a breakaway. He beat Nikolai Khabibulin with a nifty deke for his 13th goal of the year.

The Oilers scored just over a minute later shorthanded when Jones converted a Kari Lehtonen rebound to make it 1-1 as Edmonton outshot Dallas 15-9 in the period.

The Stars regained the lead six-and-a-half minutes into the second. Ribeiro and Niklas Grossman combined on a give-and-go play for Ribeiro's 10th goal of the year.

Thirteen minutes into the second Dallas made it 3-1 on the power play. Benn got past Edmonton's Colin Fraser and passed to Neal, who picked the top corner for his 19th goal of the sea-

The Oilers applied pressure late in the period and were rewarded with just over a minute remaining. Ladislav Smid's pass from behind the net went to Petry at the point and he blasted one in for his first NHL goal to make it a onegoal contest.

But that's as close as Edmonton got as Dallas clinched the win with strong defensive play in the third and an Adam Burish empty-net goal.

Today's horoscope

T Aries March 21-April 20 An offer that arrives out of the blue will cheer you up today. In fact, as far as luck goes one of the best times of the year is about to begin. You must have done something to deserve it.

¥ Taurus April 21-May 21

You will get the chance to improve the lot of a friend or relative who has been feeling a bit under the weather of late. Your outgoing, friendly manner is precisely what they need to get their act together.

II Gemini May 22-June 21 It's not your fault that something went wrong, but you can be sure that those who are to blame will try to lay some of the quilt at your door. Don't you date let them.

most anyone will do almost anything you ask of them. It seems the whole world wants to do you a favour, and being the nice guy you are, you see no reason to deny them what makes them happy!

Ω Leo July 23-Aug.23 If you don't feel much like making an effort today by all means hold off until your levels of energy and enthusiasm are a bit higher. There is no point doing a job reluctantly and making a poor show of it.

MP Virgo Aug. 24- Sept. 22 This is potentially a good time for money matters and business issues, so keep your eyes and ears open and be ready to act when opportunity arises.

Gancer June 22-July 22 Al-← Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23 Set goals you can reach without too much of an effort today. Better still, use your charm and communication skills to get other people to do the hard stuff for you.

M Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22 Don't be too tough on yourself today. Not even a Scorpio can get it right every time, so if something you have been working on goes a bit off track

→ Sagittarius

Nov. 23-Dec. 21 If you are told something you don't need to know today, or if you overhear a whispered conversation that was not meant for your ears, it might just be best to forget don't make a big fuss about it.

り Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 20 This is the ideal day to remind those you love just how much they mean to you and just how much you appreciate the efforts they have made on your

Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18 You may find it hard to trust someone you work or do business with, but what choice do you have? By all means keep your wits about you but don't

H Pisces Feb. 19-March 20 You will get support today from someone you would never have expected to be on your side. Is his or her interest genuine? It is, so don't be suspicious. SALLY BROMPTON
